ABOUT

THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE OF THE DEAF AND HARD OF HEARING

was established in October 2001 through legislation (Chapter 537 of the Acts of the 2001 General Assembly). In accordance with the State Government Article, section 9-2407 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the office promotes the general welfare of Deaf and hard of hearing individuals in Maryland by addressing policy gaps, providing expertise related to Deaf and hard of hearing issues, and facilitating the ability to access resources and services.

MISSION

The Governor's Office of the Deaf and Hard of Hard of Hearing represents the Governor and his goal of promoting equal and full access for all Marylanders by providing expertise that enhances the general welfare of Maryland's Deaf and hard of hearing residents.

VISION

All Maryland citizens who are Deaf or hard of hearing will have equal and full access to resources, services, and opportunities for participation in all aspects of community life.

HISTORY OF THE OFFICE

Numerous studies, temporary commissions, and advisory committees in Maryland over the past thirty years had consistently identified the same recurring issues related to Deaf and hard of hearing constituents from 1966 to 2001. The Governor's Office of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing finally became a reality from the collaborative efforts of Maryland Association of the Deaf along with various local organizations serving Deaf and hard of hearing individuals. In October 2001, the Maryland General Assembly recognized the need for the creation of the Office to serve Maryland's Deaf and hard of hearing individuals through enabling legislation.

RESOURCES

DEAF ECOSYSTEM

The Deaf Ecosystem is a term coined by Director Brick. The Deaf Ecosystem is a critical tool in combating underemployment and unemployment that many Deaf and hard of hearing individuals experience. To enable empowerment, purchasing power, and economic mobility of Deaf and hard of hearing individuals, the Deaf Ecosystem's fundamental approach is to retain and harness the collective socio-economic power within the community's individuals, organizations, and businesses through community collaboration and support. Examples include fostering an inclusive entrepreneurial environment where Deaf and hard of hearing individuals can realize their potential without any barriers, supporting and patronizing local Deaf and hard of hearing businesses, and hiring Deaf and hard of hearing professionals and employees.

DEAF COMMUNITY & CULTURE FAQ

WHAT IS DEAF CULTURE?

"Deaf people as a linguistic minority have a common experience of life, and this manifests itself in Deaf culture. This includes beliefs, attitudes, history, norms, values, literary traditions, and art shared by Deaf people." Source: World Federation of the Deaf (WFD); wfdeaf.org.

WHAT IS THE DEAF COMMUNITY?

"Deaf culture is at the heart of Deaf communities everywhere in the world. Each Deaf community is a cultural group which shares a sign language and a common heritage. Members of Deaf communities all around the world therefore identify themselves as members of a cultural and linguistic group. Identification with the Deaf community is a personal choice and is usually made independent of the individual's hearing status, and the community is not automatically composed of all people who are Deaf or hard of hearing. The Deaf community may also include family members of Deaf people, sign language interpreters and people who work or socialize with Deaf people who identify with Deaf culture. A person is a member of the Deaf community if he or she self-identifies as a member of the Deaf community, and if other members accept that person as a member. Very often this acceptance is strongly linked to competence in a signed language." Source: WFD

WHAT ARE THE DEAF IDENTITIES?

Deaf people have various intersectional/sub-identities, making the community beautifully diverse. Just to name the most common Deaf identities: Deaf, Hard of Hearing, DeafBlind, DeafDisabled, and Late Deafened. Many hard of hearing people do not use American Sign Language (ASL), many Deaf people become Deaf later in life, and they are always welcome in the Deaf community. To learn more about different identities, please visit nad.org/resources/american-sign-language/community-and-culture-frequently-asked-questions.

DEAF COMMUNITY & CULTURE FAQ

CAN ALL DEAF PEOPLE READ LIPS?

No (not all hearing people can, too!). Research shows that only approximately 30 to 45% of the English language can be understood through lip reading. Reading lips is not and should not be used as a main form of communication with Deaf people.

Please watch this great video to test your lip reading skills and to learn more about how lip reading impacts the Deaf community: huffingtonpost.com/lydia-l-callis/lip-reading-is-no-simple-task_b_9526300

DO ALL DEAF PEOPLE HAVE DEAF PARENTS?

No, it is known by numerous research findings that 90% of Deaf children are born into hearing parents and families. This is why language deprivation is such an alarming issue, especially if the hearing parents have never been exposed to the Deaf community and ASL. Deaf children need exposure to full language from birth. For more information on language acquisition, please visit gallaudet.edu/clerc-center/info-to-go/language-and-communication.

ISN'T ACCESSIBILITY ENOUGH?

Providing accessibility is NOT the same thing as having access to Deaf-centric services. Although it is required by law to provide accessibility for Deaf people and people with disabilities, nothing can beat having access to services that are truly tailored for them. Examples include Deaf employees serving Deaf consumers, such as the Governor's Office of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing. Direct communication, especially with someone of the same background and experience, is best. If need be, when providing accessibility, the quality of service is highly critical. For instance, ASL interpreters and CART providers must be certified and qualified. Certified Deaf Interpreters (CDI) are extremely important in facilitating communication as well, for they specialize in cultural and linguistic exchanges. Hearing loop systems should also be installed and readily available for direct access to sound.

DEAF COMMUNITY & CULTURE FAQ

HOW CAN I COMMUNICATE?

Deaf and hard of hearing people may prefer to communicate in different ways. Some might prefer to sign, vocalize, or some might prefer to use writing. Their first language might be American Sign Language, English, or any other language. Don't assume anything, just ask.

If you know ASL and you're talking to a Deaf or hard of hearing person who uses sign language, you should try to sign yourself. Even if your skills aren't the best, the person you're talking to will appreciate your effort, and they'll let you know if they prefer to communicate a different way.

When talking with a hard of hearing person who does not use ASL, face them directly in good light, speak clearly, and keep your hands away from your face while talking. Avoid talking to them from different rooms or at a distance, as well as the overlapping or interrupting of conversations.

When using an interpreter, their job is to relay the information, so you should speak directly to the Deaf or hard of hearing person. The translation process may cause a bit of a delay, so be mindful when speaking fast, and everyone should speak one at a time. Don't be afraid to ask for clarification. Generally, when at a meeting or in a conversation, say your name first before speaking. This will help the Deaf and hard of hearing individuals, CART providers, and interpreters identify who is currently talking.

WHAT IS PRO-TACTICLE ASL?

Pro-tactile ASL is a language used by DeafBlind people, that touches hands to read the signing. To learn more, please watch this video: youtube.com/watch?v=9GrK3P15TYU.

WHAT IS A VIDEO RELAY SERVICE?

Video Relay Service (VRS) is a form of Telecommunications Relay Service that enables Deaf people who use American Sign Language to communicate with voice telephone users through video equipment, rather than through typed text. There are several different VRS providers, such as Convo, Sorenson, and Z. To learn more, please visit fcc.gov/consumers/guides/video-relay-services. There are also other forms of relay, such as voice carry-over and Braille TTY. For more information, please visit Maryland Relay at doit.maryland.gov/mdrelay/Pages/services.

DEAF COMMUNITY & CULTURE FAQ

WHAT WORDS SHOULDN'T I USE?

Deaf and hard of hearing people have the right to choose what they wish to be called, either as a group or on an individual basis. Overwhelmingly, Deaf and hard of hearing people prefer to be called "Deaf" or "hard of hearing." Nearly all organizations of the Deaf use the term "Deaf and hard of hearing." Yet there are many people who persist in using these terms:

Deaf and Dumb/Deaf-Mute: These offensive words are self-explanatory. Deaf and hard of hearing people have repeatedly proved that they have much to contribute to the society at large rather than being "Dumb." Because Deaf and hard of hearing people use various methods of communication other than or in addition to using their voices, they are not mute. True communication occurs when one's message is understood by others, and they can respond in kind.

Hearing Impaired: The term "hearing impaired" is viewed as negative. The term focuses on what people can't do. It establishes the standard as "hearing" and anything different as "impaired," or substandard, hindered, or damaged. It implies that something is not as it should be and ought to be fixed if possible.
